This arrangement, it was said the morning, has all been cut and dried.

The waiting platform was crowded with delegates and their friends for three-quarters of an hour before the first section left, and even when the last car had pulled out of the depot there was a throng of several hundred left behind. They had only come down to see the braves off and sample some of the good things on tap before the train st arted.

A POLICE OUTRAGE?

Manner of Mulvey's Arrest.

John Mulvey, of 73 Howard avenue, Brooklyn, to-day told a strange story when arraigned in the Gates Avenue Police Court. Some time ago a warrant was secured for Mulvey's arrest for al-for the Budwelser Brewing Company, of Brooklyn, said to-day that he would probably take steps to have certain persons punished for contempt of court for violating Justice Cullen's injunction restraining the United Brewers' Association, which is a branch of the Knights of Labor, and all other persons, from interfering with or boycotting that concern or its customers.

The contempt proceedings will, he stated, be the result of the arrest of Thomas McCarthy yesterday afternoon. McCarthy was standing in front of a saloon at Fourth avenue and Eleventh street distributing circulars headed: "Don't drink Budwelser scab beer; don't support the millionaires."

Pollceman McNeely, of the Fifth avenue station, took him into custody. The prisoner was taken before Justice Tighe, in the Butler street court, to-day, and held for examination. To this the prisoner retorted that he had lived in the same house seventeen years; that he was well known in the neighborhood, and, moreover, he had been home every evening, as his family could testify.

List aturday night the patrol wagon of the Fourteenth Precinct drew up before Mulvey's house and he was arrested and taken through the streets without the faintest show of authority. No warrent was served on him, and he was left in ignorance of the cause of his arrest until brought into court to-day. Justice Quigley said indignantly:

"I shall investigate this matter, and for that purpose I shall adjourn the case. I am surprised that such an outrage should be perpetrated by the police, who should know better. I shall not countenance it. I shall protect the citizen in every way, and if I find this story true I shall take measures to right the wrong that has been done."

MR. HEALY IS NOT MARRIED. and He Wants to Find the Man

effect that he was married, retracts the statement, a marriage which was to have taken place will probably never take place, and his heart will be broken. Mr. Healey is an attache of Sub-Station H of the Post-Office in this city, He is twenty-nine years old, is good-looking, and very popular in the office, where he has been employed for nine years. Early in September he went on his vacation to Catskill. Several of the clerks also spent their vacation there, and it is to one of these that he lays his present troubles.

When he picked up the papers yesterday he was astounded by a notice to the effect that he had been married to the notice several times, and then visions of a young and charming girl flashed through his mind. They were not visions of Mrs. Mary Powell, for Healy swears he don't know anybody by that name, and was never married, but visions of a young lady whom he inhopes soon to make his wife. Mr. Healy is to call at her home to-night, and he is not quite positive as to how he will be received.

When the supposed newly-married man made his appearance at the Post-Office to-day half a dozen friends rushed up and congratulated him. He tried to explain, but they refused to believe anything different.

This morning Mr. Healey was still very angry, and the look in his eye betokened ill for somebody. He said that the whole thing was a joke, and the only Mary Powell he knew anything about was the steamer he went to Catskill on.

COMSTOCK IN THEJURY ROOM

Inquisitors. The United States Grand Jury was in ession to-day in the Federal Building. An unusually large number of witnesses were subpoensed. Anthony Comstock was one of th first to enter the jury-room, and remained there nearly an hour. It is supposed that he expleined to the jurors the details of five arrests recently made in the vicinity of Thompsonville and mailing immoral literature.

Agents from the United States Secret Service were in attendance with the evidence against Matthew Kelly, slian "Lonesome Mat." arrested on July 2 for counterfeiting. Post-Office Inspector Beavers was also present, possibly with regard to the Mandel case of alleged raise impersonation at a civil-service investigation. Several ex-ward detectives, now on patrol duty, were also on hand.

Alleged Abductor's $2,500 Bail Bond Forteited.

Walter K. Freeman, indicted for abduction, did not appear when called for trial this morning in the Court of General Sessions. His counsel, Lawyer Hugh O. Pentecost, said that Freeman Hugh O. Pentecost, said that Freeman was in Indiana, but would stand trial if his bail was not forfeited and read a telegram from Freeman to that effect. Recorder Smyth ordered the bail bond for $2.500 forfeited and issued a bench warrant for Freeman's arrest. He said he would consider the question of returning the bail when the prisoner appeared for trial.
